*************************

SEVENTH EPISODE THE HARVEST OF SIN

named that to advant it from MINEAU to bis offer going over the morning's mail was in a boastly temper. He stapped at his clurk when that obsery Found man wished him a bright "Good morning." He made short work of the mildly firstious stemographer's attempt to begin the day brengly for him.

Muley, antered garty and singped him on the tuck. The cierk and the pher paused expectant, but before he spoke to Mulry Proness

Get out and stay out till I send for you."

They got put.

Muley was amused at his friend's bud temper. He churchled: "Weeng of the bed this morning, old bear? What seems to be your little trouble the floor, properted to acquaint Mulry with the dire state of his lave Mulry continued to be mildly amused until he realised that these af security was again at stake; then he became serious at once.

near told him that Loss Stafford, which he was allowpting to set M M. had learned of his engagement to ber scatter-in-saw, Giorca, and had unmanagrable.

"The threatened that unless I gave up my proposed marriage she will se the whole affair and then kill herself."

is much entire to carry out plots in

Judge Freeman took the liberty reading the tag on that trunk. He saw that it was checked to Blendike, a village in the Catskills.

Going to Lois's room, he questioned scipally this meant to Mulry that the firm would have to refund the brgs aum of money Freneau had been partially been borrowed from Gioria's father of the strength of the engagement. Mairy began pacing the floor also chewing his cigar. At last he chewed out an idea that pleased him. Tou make the trip to the branch office in my place and take your far tormenter along. Perhaps you can appears her and get her into a presence her and get her into a presence did not care for the cheme. He shook his head in definition than in finct. Durid, Loss and her father, Juitge Freeman, were going to the opera that hight and they stopped it see Gioria on their way, Gioria was sitting up on her chaise loungs, attill you make the trip to the branch chees. Then she turned to David and pouted.

"Oh, dear, some people have all institute for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place."

"At least it would gain time for the place." the firm would have to refund was harmistakably an adventurer and by train and what the world calls a cad, but he was the Catakilla.

Judge Freen blood in his veins, as his worldly reading the truly adored saw that it was sharp torment in the agonies he Going to Lo calcured fearing the loss of her through his previous sins. His punishment was not far off and he was to meet it with neither peaceful thoughts nor clear conscience. He had cameshed himself in so complex a web of intrigue and wrongdoing that the problem of escape was ever more complex. He had courage of a kind and a great belief in his own resources. But he was growing skeptical of his ability to fight so many engines at once.

Going to Lois's room, he questioned her. She answered that as David was going away that evening she thought she would run out to Lenox to visit Aunt Kate has gone to Florida, as you know," her father answered sternly. "I forgot, but anyway, I have to get off by myself for a few days; my nerves are in ribbons. Please leave me alone," Lois said, and burst into tears.

Again her father left her, his anx-

Who knows? If Gloria had been a lety greater than before.

Her attention was caught by the curious behavior of a man who seemed to be skulking about the monument. She saw him take from his pocket something that looked like a revolver. She saw another man come around the column and crouch down; then a third approaching. It was Freneau! A figure sprang from the shadows and leaped upon Freneau. Then she saw his limp body fall to the ground. Gloria screamed.

lows on the couch, he continued: "Tve had such a wooderful gay on the market, Gloria. I cleaned up a pile. By Jove, it was thrilling. If I can only keep this up you won't have to be ashamed of your poor husband. And, thank food! I shall have you to worst for. Just see what I've brought my little mascet with the first spoile of war." He tossed a leather case into her lap.

Opening two shrinelike doors, Gloria gurgied in delight at the string of pearles within, but made him clasp them about her throat. Then she leaned forward to thank him with a kins; she saw the corner of a large and envelope in his inner pocket, she pulled it forth impudently.

"What's this? More business or love letters?"

A dull mottled red began to surge up Frencau's face. She spoke so much truer than she knew, it was the packet of letters he was taking to Lois. He had porketed them to make sure that he should not leave them behind.

"Just business decuments connected with my trip," he said, as naturally as he could. Gloria accepted the explanation in perfect faith. It did not occur to her to suspect him of any deceit. She put the envelope back in his pocket, making a little gesture of disgust: "Ugh! I hate your old business! How long must you be away?"

"One whole week, dearest little looked vaguely familiar. Coming the colored in the looked vaguely familiar. Coming the looked vaguely familiar.

"One whole week, dearest little love," he murmured brokenly. "I'm afraid it will never pass for me, but take good care of your precious self and get those wonderful roses back in your cheeks. I will write and telegraph you every day."

Then his face darkened and he hung his head before her as he added: "I can't give you any address to write to me, as I shall be jumping about so, but I'll telephone you."

Turning her glasses down the drive, she saw a third man approaching. He looked vaguely familiar. Coming closer, he stopped to light a cigar. It was Freneau!

She realized it with astonishment. She wondered if he had missed his train. He saw that she looked out of her window. Before she could wave hands clutching his throat.

Gloria tried to cry out. She could where the state of the day for the state of the day for the state of t

"IF YOU GO, I'LL GO," SING SING LIFER TOLD WARDEN OSBORNE

Who knows? If Gloria had been a woman when he first saw her, the woman he he was glad the prisoners of the State of Reinstatement.

When Dr. Reyce made his morning all on his beloved patient Gloria he found her still progressing toward of Reinstatement.

When Dr. Reyce made his morning all on his beloved patient Gloria he found his still progressing toward of Reinstatement.

When Dr. Reyce made his morning all on his beloved patient Gloria he found his still progressing toward of Reinstatement.

When Dr. Reyce made his morning all on his beloved patient Gloria he found his still progressing toward of Reinstatement.

When Dr. Reyce made his morning all on his beloved patient Gloria he found his still progressing toward of Reinstatement.

When Dr. Reyce made his morning all on his beloved patient Gloria he found his still progressing toward of Reinstatement.

The heat at night he had to kim the found his asserted the batch of love letters and title lyou, Mr. Osborne.

What did I tell you. Mr. Osborne.

What did I tell you. Mr. Osborne.

How Lossey at lat with his he was glad the prisoners of the Stature.

What did I tell you. Mr. Osborne.

What did I tell you. Mr. Osborne said, earnestly: 'Warden, I'm with you through thick and thin. If you FEARING TO LOSE MIND,

Mr. Osborne has just returned from Cape May, where he attended a Quaker convention. He said he was Wellington R. Encell Takes Life in not ready yet to issue the statement he has promised regarding the conspiracy which brought about his temporary retirement from Sing Sing. He praised Warden Kirchwey, the present incumbent, for his fairness 'What Did I Tell You?" His during the controversy, and said he was glad the prisoners of the State

"The eternity of this long week is "The eternity of this long week is over. I return to-morrow to your arms."

He sealed the letters, wondering what would be the answer to them. He took them to the office, and the next day when Mulry took his train to Albany he carried with him these letters. He was well pleased with the next day when Mulry took his train to Albany he carried with him these letters. He was well pleased with the next day when Mulry took his train to Albany he carried with him these letters. He was well pleased with the next day when Mulry took his train to Albany he carried with him these lessly and stepped back as David approximately as he read it in his too floating baths at the foot of East Trenth Street and the foot of East Trenth Street in commission for the remainder of the summer.

Alderman Williams and a delegation of wonen tried to have the resolution passed, declaring the baths are sorely needed and were built to be used.

The char the Hotel Belmont this morn.

Ninety-sixth Street and the foot of East Trenth Street in commission for the remainder of the summer.

Alderman Williams and a delegation of wonen tried to have the resolution passed, declaring the baths are sorely needed and were built to be used.

The char the Hotel Belmont this morn.

Ninety-sixth Street and the foot of East Trenth Street in commission for the remainder of the summer.

Alderman Williams and a delegation of wonen tried to have the resolution passed, declaring the baths are sorely needed and were built to be used.

The char the Hotel Belmont this morn.

Ninety-sixth Street and the foot of East Ninety-sixth Street and the foot of East Trenth Street in commission for the remainder of the summer.

Alderman Williams and a delegation of wonen tried to have the resolution passed, declaring the baths are sorely needed and were built to be used.

The char the Hotel Belmont this morn.

Ninety-sixth Street and the foot of East Ninety-sixth Street in commission for the remainder of the summer.

FEMALE ESKIMO DOG mothering

LAWYER DIES BY GAS

Brooklyn Home, Blaming Bad Business.

which he said that business is dead, returning alone yesterday, that "the rulings by the Post Office" The letter to Mrs. Encell began with fifty-three years old, of No. 99 Nassau out save that he had chosen. He said Street, killed himself early to-day in that he felt his mind was going and his apartment in the Brevoort, Bed- death was prefcroble to insanity. ford Avenue and Fulton Street, Then followed the reference to the Brooklyn. He closed all he windows. stuffed the cracks of the doors and that he was months behind with his turned on five gas jets. Four weeks Leaving a letter to his wife in ago Mr. Encell took his wife West,

News Odditics

DYING FROM BICHLORIDE, Salina (Kan.) woman to the state of several door-

FOLLOWING the disappearance of several door- 7 knobs in dermitory rooms, Bayonne Y. M. C. A. has established a 10.30 P. M. curfew.

at Fort Thomas will wear bathing suits hereafter, since young woman who objected to unconventional attire shot BOY WHO RAN AWAY from Dobbs Ferry institus -- tion clad only in blanket agent pleasant day at Van-

REITMAN HERO AT MEETING.

Post Office rulings and a statement obligations. The Encells had no children. He was prominent in a Flatbust

Says Jail Term for Birth Control
Work Has Not Reformed Him.

Four hundred persons attending the birth control meeting last night at the Harlem Casino, One Hundred and Sixteenth Street and Lenox Avenue, in honor of Ben L. Reitman, who yesterday was released from the Queens day was released from the Queens County Jatl. Long Island City, where he served a sentence of sixty days for distributing literature in regard to birth can into the street screaming for as-"I did not reform in tail," Reitman said. "Jalls never reform any one. They weak and choking, hoisted himself are the training schools for crime. Every an alleyway below. Two patrolmen an alleyway below. Two patrolmen person prominent in the criminal world erson prominent in the criminal world from the West Forty-seventh Street to this State is a graduate of Elmira."

He said he had "a wonderful time, a conscious. He was taken to the Polyin this State is a graduate of Elmira." delightful rest and did some real work.

Leonard D. Abbott presided and the other speakers were Dr. A. L. Goldwater, Harry Weinberger, Harry Keily and Stewart Kerr.

Mrs. Rellly could not explain her husband's act. She said she had left

Killed Two Resisting Arrest. RICHMOND, Ind., July 8.—In attempting to arrest Eli S. Carr, thirty

Department have killed it for all a complaint that "things were bad in POLICEMAN SHOOTS SELF AND LEAPS FROM WINDOW

James Reilly, With Two Wounds in Breast and Broken Leg, Has Fighting Chance for Life. James Reilly, a patrolman attached to the Fourth Inspection District today shot himself twice in the breast in his home at No. 241 West Forty-

Attempting to drag him into the kit-sistance.

While she was gone Reilly, although husband's act. She him in good spirits.

tempting to arrest Eli S. Carr, thirty years old, for drunkenness early to-lay Policeman George M. Little, forty-five years, and Elmer Stevenson, thirty, were shot and killed by the man found in the North River off Pier No. 18 yesterday was clared to the state of Nicholas C. Kaulman, fifty-nine years old, a former inspector in the Pepartment of Docks through the hip by Patrolman Charles Kuhlman, and he was taken to the Name on Feb. 19 last, identified the best.